

Biogeosciences, again among the top journals in the fields of Geosciences!

We are pleased to announce the impact factor for Biogeosciences 3.246 for the year 2009. With this impact factor Biogeosciences is ranking again among the top geosciences journals. The Chief Editors would like to thank all authors, editors and referees for their contributions to this impressive success. This excellent ranking combined with the two stage open access publishing may be a convincing argument to publish your best research in our journal.